Life is like a game

That's why they made a board game out of it right? A challenge full of ups and downs, twists and turns, all of which are completely unpredictable.

Alright,

So maybe it's not that easy, our lives are much more complicated than picking our careers from a deck of cards or sticking our blue/pink spouses next to us in a plastic car. But as complicated as everything may seem now, it's easy to see how the games that once made us so happy in our youth, reflect what we are going through today. We've all "rolled the dice" and had things not turn out the way we planned. We all draw from the Chance deck in life, and at least once, have to make a crazy move.

Sometimes we get sent back to Start

But with a little luck and some strategic thinking, we can succeed not only in getting through the game of life, but creating our own. The paths we choose and the decisions we make form all those twists and turns; and create countless adventure along the way. Each game is unique, yet still, we are all connected

Some of us think we have the game all figured out

But when we reach the end, it's not about winning; it's not about who guesses correctly or who ends up a millionaire. Isn't the real reason we play games, just to have fun?

Wherever you are, or wherever you're going, here is where it starts. Port Huron Northern, Home block. This is your game. This is our game. You've read the directions, been given the rules and know how to make your first move. So without further a due,

Let the games begin...

Summer Vacation

Buried up to her neck, Sara Haynes ('09) and Jacob Aguinaga ('09) enjoy a fun day at the beach.

Showing his goofy side, Nigel Elliott ('09) models his stylish swimwear before diving in.

Galloping along, Danielle Jowett ('10) and her horse, Chief, enjoy the fresh summer air.

Getting a good leg workout from left, Ashley Schrader ('11), Bianca Marrogy ('11), and Nikki Jamison ('11), paddle around the river on a relaxing summer day.

What's the buzz?

Summer time consists of beaches, ice cream, and tanning – the works. That's pretty normal for people that are born and raised here. What if you're from Bangkok, Taiwan, and you're traveling half way across the world as a foreign exchange student? Well, that's exactly what Ratrosarin Jermsawasdipong did. "I wanted to have a new experience," she said, "and I wanted to know the culture of the other side of the world." What surprised her most when she first came over was, "Everything is right there and so convenient. You can drive over and get money anytime you want." Imagine leaving your home to travel to a different country with a new way of going about things. Scary, huh? One of the few things Michigan has in common with Taiwan are the beaches. Ratrosarin said, "I got to go to the beach, and demolition derby, and go camping and go on a bike trail. The beach and bike trail were two of my favorite memories." So, next time you're outside, or playing sports on the beach with your friends, just think about experiencing all of that for the first time in a totally different country and part of the world, just like Ratrosarin Jermsawasdipong did.

Summer Vacation 5

Mimicking the Leaning Tower of Pisa, from bottom, David Zimmer ('09), Brian Cox ('09), Nigel Elliott ('09) and Jenna Sparling ('10) preform a daring stunt.

HOMECOMING

"Homecoming is like nothing else! it's a day where every detail is important and you get that feeling that no matter what, you're gonna have fun!" Danielle Masterton ('10) reminisces with a smile when asked about how the homecoming experience had been for her. Many students feel the same way when it comes to this dance. However, booming music and swaying hips is just one part of the Homecoming event.

"A lot of people like the dance, but I really like the spirit week before it. Everyone gets to show pride and the Homecoming game is always a good way to get you pumped; you really start to look forward to the dance to being the cherry on top of an awesome week," Shane Richardson ('12) says thoughtfully. And many agree with him. The decorating of show cases, the different days to dress up and the homecoming court elections make Homecoming what it is, not to mention getting ready and going out to eat (as many students do) before the dance.

"Just getting ready is one of the best parts of homecoming, you have an excuse to get a new dress, do your hair, and get your nails done. But, soon enough you are out on the dance floor feeling the base seep through your feet. You just have to let the stress of a tough week at school go, as you find yourself going along with the rhythm." Lindsey Helton ('12) says excitedly. Many students look forward to the Homecoming Dance. There is a buzz of excitement with whispers of dates, outfits, tickets, and pictures. To many students it is the next-best-following prom. It is a night where kids be kids and have fun dancing the night away.

Presenting your Homecoming King and Queen: Brian Cox and Taylor Semrow.

Preparing for the cart race down the football field, these juniors get their head in the game. Each grade gathered at half time and pushed carts up and down the field with the victory going to the seniors.

Peace, as this group of senior girls participate in Decades Days. Decades for each class were chosen by student representatives and included the 80's, 70's, 50's and 40's.

Who says plaid and stripes don't match? Hunter Potter ('12) wears his best mismatch apparel on Tacky Tuesday.

Can you see the resemblance as Kendall Sattelberg ('09) dresses as Mrs. Murphy. "Mrs. Murphy is a strong and inspiring role model, who wouldn't want to be her?" stated Kendall.

wednesday

thursday

Summer is in the air for Sara Richard ('10), and the rest of the junior class. Seniors showed their spirit by dressing up for winter, while sophomores dressed for fall, and freshman spring.

Using their strength, Kyle Howe ('10), along with the junior class, compete against the freshman in the tug of war during the games assembly. Juniors were the champions in this event, defeating the seniors and even the teachers.

1ST

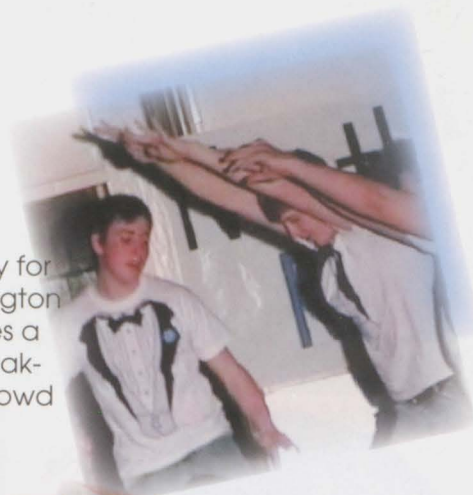

Living it up on stage, Ryan Gaffney ('08), Tyler Gostinger ('08), David Labelle ('08), Eric Harrington ('08) and Jamie West ('08) gave an unforgettable performance. going last, Gusually leads to more pressure, but that didn't stop them from giving an unforgettable finale.

Showing off their skills, Northern Rhapsody performs a daring stunt that makes the crowd roar. After weeks of intense practice, this group came up with a first place performance.

Make way for Eric Harrington as he does a little jig, making the crowd go wild.

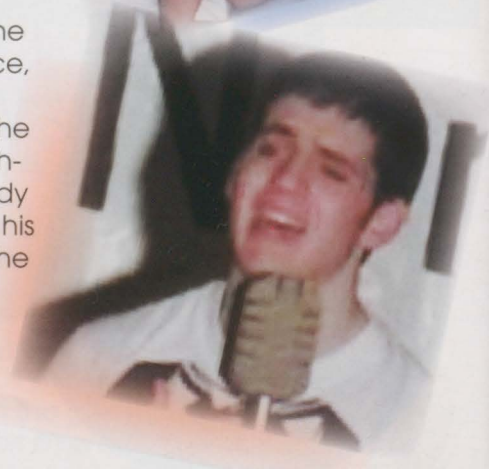

Riverdancing never looked so much fun as these senior guys set the stage on fire.

Being carried away like a prince, Tyler Gostinger makes a dramatic ending to the show.

Putting his heart into the performance, Ryan Gaffney, helps the group, Northern Rhapsody by showing his passion to the audience.

2ND

Striking a pose, Eric Ruelle ('08) and Amy Klein ('08) entertain the audience to claim a second place prize. This group was made up of radio members as their fellow students cheered them on.

Putting fright into the audience, Chad Baunoch adds a horror aspect to "The Fresh Prince of Bel-Air."

Roll it back with Chad Baunoch ('08) as he enjoys his couple minutes of fame. This was one of the first performances where school groups participated in the thrilling event.

3RD

Imitating the famous John Travolta and Olivia Newton, Michelle Sandler ('08) and Shamal Shah ('08) sing their hearts out.

Singing "You're the One that I Want" Michelle and Shamal re-enact Grease. Their enjoyable performance earned them a solid third place.

In a moment of heated emotion, "Sandy" and "Danny", sing it out for the crowd. They were the only two person group that performed in this event.

You see people decked out in costumes, dancing up a storm, and really getting in to the moment, what are they doing? They're rocking out at Airband! But that's just the students on stage; the audience is having the time of their life as well. Either the crowd is laughing with silly antics of the performers, or applauding and screaming the names of kids on stage. There's never a dull moment when it comes to Airband; Haley Alexander ('10) exclaims, "It was a lot of fun, the acts were really good, and the dance was, of course, super fun. I made a lot of good memories that night."

But of course, it wasn't just the audience having an awesome time; the brave students that got on stage all had a blast too. Eric Ruelle ('08) who performed and placed second with his group said, "The day of Airband was awesome. We went to go get pizza at Little Caesars; we turned on the beat and did our skit in the middle of the parking lot. People drove by making funny faces while we just laughed it off. Those nerves you get right before you got on stage were crazy. Your hands start shaking and the beads of sweat form on your forehead. Everything that we practiced came down to that on singular moment when we got on stage and did our skit. We took second behind on e of the best Airband skits to ever come out."

Victor Uhlman ('09), was also a part of the total experience, he hosted the show and got right up in the action. Victor stated, "The experience was great, I had been backstage since my sophomore year, but this year took the cake. All the acts were really great and everyone had a good time."

The entire night consisted of bold kids showing off their talent and spunk, audience members having an amazing time, and a ton of laughter and fun. You can't make up for this night.

SNOW

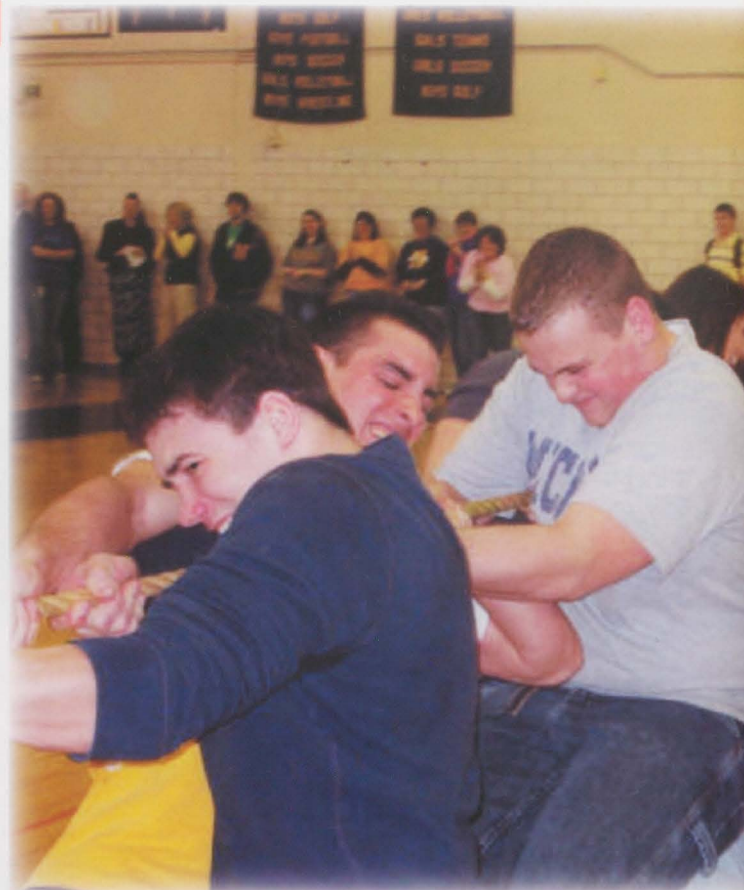

Dressed as a snowman, Mrs. Hartson stands wrapped in toilet paper with a carrot nose during the class officer event. Mrs. Hartson is the advisor for the junior class.

Pumping up for snow football, the class of 2011 gear up for their second place win. These girls gave it their all and played their hearts out during the games.

Ready for bed, these two girls show off their school spirit by dressing up for Get Up and Go Day. Dressing comfortably made it a day of relaxation.

Racing for the finish of the obstacle course, Tyler Gostinger ('08) does a layup to impress the crowd. The seniors and the juniors tied for the most points overall at the games assembly.

Pulling with all their might, Joe Mathews, Bobby Romzek and Aaron David, all ('09), compete against the seniors to rack up some points in the games assembly.

Competing in a Euchre tournament during the Snow games, these students concentrate in playing their best game. The class of 2009, dominated the other classes in the game receiving a whopping 18 points.

Arcata

Kicking off the event Wade Holcomb ('11) and Ryan Serazin ('11) grab the crowd's attention with a humorous set parodying "Flight of the Conchords." It's a tough spot to be first, but the guys really warmed up the crowd for the rest of the bands.

Tim Bales

Working together to put on a great performance, "Arcata" member Kevin Lynch reflected that, "It was a great experience, we were sad that we couldn't win a second year." Members of the band pictured are (clockwise starting from top left) Dylan Hullett, and seniors Kevin Lynch, Cody Woolman, and Andrew Ravetta.

Crossing generations, Tim Bales ('08) and Dr. Lew entertain the crowd during a break between bands. Tim was the student representative of guitar club and Dr. Lew was one of the staff advisors.

Dream in Stereo

Feeding off the excitement of the crowd, Anthony Thompson ('08) leads the way as "For the Worst" closes another great performance. Each band was competing for the crowd's votes.

Working as a team makes a great band. The "Dream in Stereo" members perform their pre-show ritual. "Let's take the stage!"

For the Worst

Using guitars to drive their sound, Brandon Howcroft ('08) rocks a solo that brought the crowd to their feet. "For the Worst" was defending their status as the 2007 BOTB champions.

Filling the bottom David Goforth ('09) riffs a bass line that pulls the other groups together. This band gave a thrilling and impressive performance that 'wowed' the crowd.

Driving the beat, Nick Wedyke ('10) sets the tempo for one of the songs performed by "The Atmosphere". Nick did his job well as his group won the competition.

The Atmosphere

Completing the winning band lineup, Cody Curtis ('10) and Cory Tynan ('10) won the competition by being the crowd's favorite. Cody is also the student representative for our schol guitar club.

Hair curled, make-up perfect and nails manicured, Taylor Semrow ('09), Kelcie Jimenez ('09) and Stephanie Bury ('09) get ready for an exciting night to come.

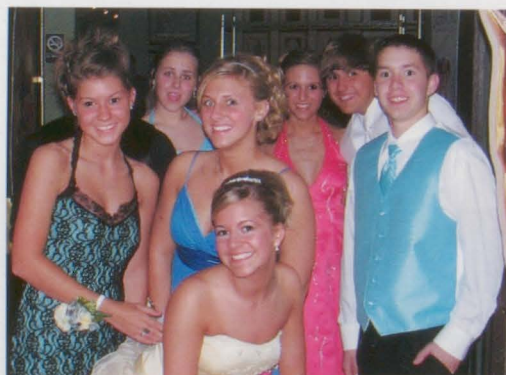

Showing a little leg, this group of girls enjoy a beach scenery for pictures before the dance. "Jr. Prom exceeded my expectations. I had a wonderful experience," stated Alexis Baker ('09).

Showing off their great fashion sense, (from left) Alyson Kemp ('09), Elliot Chaltry ('07), Kristen Kramer ('09), Amanda Berger ('09) and Joe Shevnock ('09) look like stars for a fun-filled night. Hollywood is a place where all the 'stars' meet, which was the theme for Jr. Prom.

Say "cheese" as this group stops to take a quick photo in the entrance of the dance. The theme for prom was Hollywood, as a big red carpet was the entrance into the dance.

Concentrating on the beat of the music, Nigel Elliot ('09), and Sara Rusch ('09) dance the night away. Junior Prom was held at the luxurious Thomas Edison Inn.

Showing their radiant style, this group gathers together in an exquisite scenery. Jr. Prom was a lively night with a wide variety of music, decor and style.

Perfectly aligned, this group gathers around before piling into the limosine for dinner. Couples went to various restaurants throughout St. Clair County.

Pucker-ing her lips, Mrs. Van Dyke, the senior class advisor, pretends to kiss Elvis Presley.

Gazing into each others eyes, Kaitlyn Graw ('09) and James Cesaro ('10), share a romantic dance.

Getting their groove on, Ben Klienert ('09) and Kelcey Semrow ('08) party it up on the dance floor.

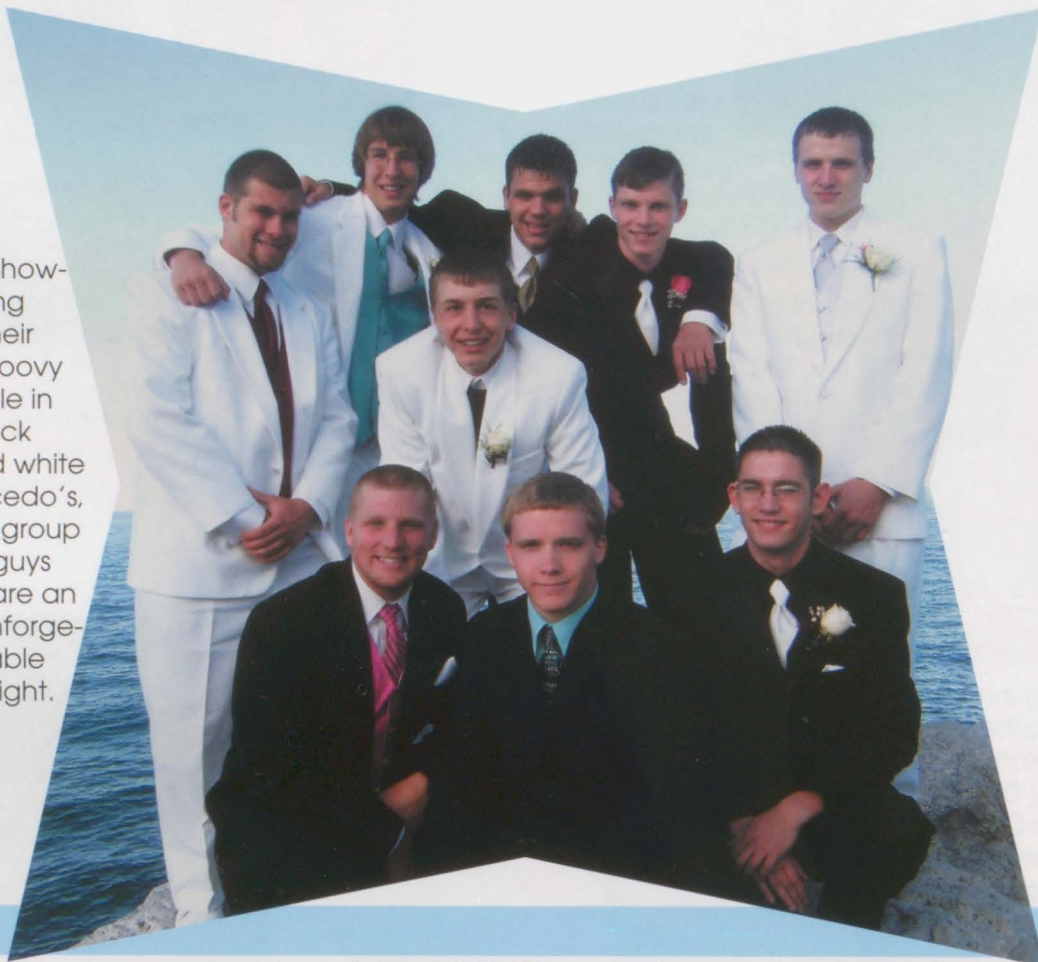

What gender took longer to prepare for Jr. Prom: Males or Female?

Showing their groovy style in black and white tuxedo's, this group of guys share an unforgettable night.

A Night to Remember

Dazzling lights, the swish of skirts, pounding rhythm, these are the things you might remember about Senior Prom. Everyone hopes for that fairy-tale night where it just doesn't seem like it can get any better. It's that event where senior friends can get together for one final dance to look back on those last four years with fond memories and look forward to the unknown future. It is almost time for everyone to go in different directions and it expresses need to enjoy the last few months with each other. The Senior Prom is the dance, the one girls spend hours searching every rack in every store to find the perfect dress, the one boys spend time doing things like matching corsages and ties with the dresses of their dates.

What made Senior Prom 2008 different from the rest of the proms since the beginning or time? Was it the attention-grabbing decorations? Or the use of glow sticks that add something new? No, it was the seniors themselves. With a new generation they brought something original and something different. Their ability to bring something different to the table shows the closeness of their class. Even with all different kinds of people they were all willing to work together for a night filled with fun, romance, and a ton of dancing. The seniors of 2008 really knew how to make prom special and the memories they have of the awesome evening they got to spend with their friends will never be forgotten. And even when their lives take them on different paths that lead them far away from each other they will always remember one of their last high school events. . . .Senior Prom 2008.

Proving guys will be guys, these "sophisticated" men bond before sharing the night with their lovely dates.

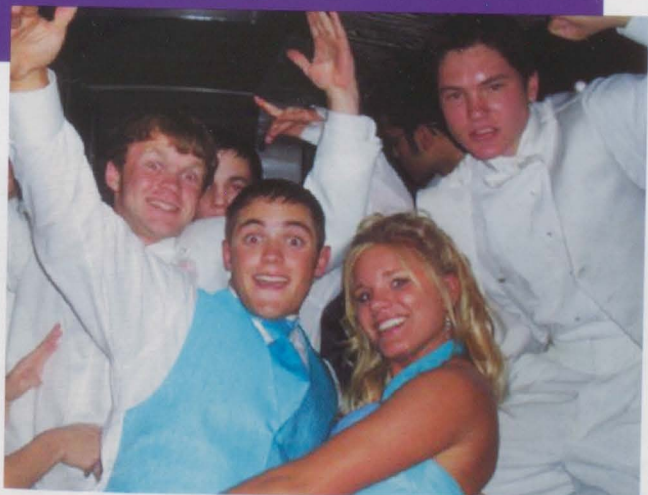

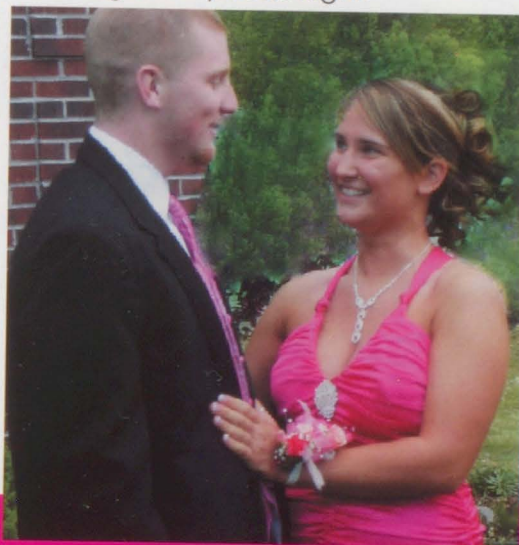

Savoring their last moments as seniors, this group of lovely ladies take a photograph that will remain in their hearts forever.

Sharing a special moment together these high school sweethearts, Matt Stapleford ('08) and Tiffany Meyers ('08) draw each other close before sharing their special night.

Blue skies and beautiful buildings tower above, this divine group capture memories in photos and soon leave for dinner.

Giving a little smirk, Alina Langolf is acknowledged for winning a scholarship and becoming a member of the Hall of Fame.

All gathering around at their last high school function, this group of friends enjoy a day fulfilled with memories.

Graduation

The blue and gold gowns, the certificates, and those little ropes in pretty colors that no one knows the name of; this is graduation. Though graduation is a time of rejoice and remembrance, of the trials we have passed to achieve the standing we have made for ourselves, it is also a very sad time. It brings the realization that it is time to enter adulthood, which is frightening yet exciting part of life. Graduation brings mixed emotions for everyone. Mr. Labelle, the class advisor of 2008 stated, "I was happy for the graduates, but my son and his friends were graduating, so it was bitter-sweet." However, Lucy Case ('08), felt differently about graduation. "I was thrilled and relieved that my high school years are over."

Graduation can also be very stressful, for it is the last time you are considered a high school student. It is a big step into the real world, where your parents can no longer save you from your tiny mishaps. The next step is in your hands, whether it be college, starting a family, or deciding to jump right into life. Planning graduation is also stressful, whether it's planning your graduation party date or picking a college to attend.

Though graduation can be nerve-wracking and hectic, it's very rewarding in the end. Accepting the diploma and standing to be honored couldn't be compared to any other memory. Furthermore, being a parent in the audience is just as rewarding seeing the child you created many years ago, grow up right in front of your eyes.

-Eric Merrill and Ashton Hearn

Now presenting 2008's Hall of Fame including valedictorians, salutatorians, academic top 20, yearbook's editor-in-chiefs, newspaper editor-in-chiefs, presidents of various school clubs, record breakers and top athletes. It is a privilege to be in the Hall of Fame and is pictured in a hallway for several years to come.

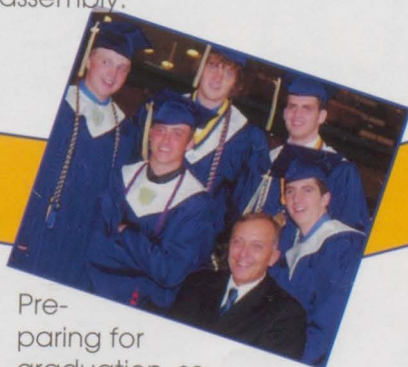

Singing their hearts out for the last time, Melanie Dionne ('08), Jeremy Davidson ('08) and Kristi Amstutz perform "Here's to the Night" by Eve Six to the senior class. Each year, seniors try-out for the chance to show their singing talents during the senior assembly.

Master and Mistress of the ceremony, David Labelle and Sarah Brennan introduce the speakers at the senior graduation assembly. The guest speaker was Superintendent of the school district Thomas Shorkey, while other speakers included Mr. Dahlke and students who reflected back on the memories of their high school career.

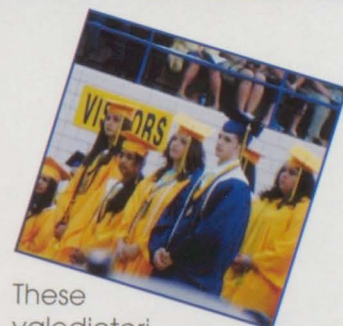

Enticing the crowd, Joe Grant ('08) sums up the year in a farewell speech.

Preparing for graduation, seniors find time to strike a dazzling smile.

Taking advantage of a "Kodak moment", these ladies show their achievements to the camera.

These valedictorians and salutatorians watch attentively.

With the sun setting, the silhouettes of Brooke Ward ('10) and Mia Rankine ('11) are shown as they sink their feet into the sand. As the warm weather "rolls" in, students can't wait to get outdoors and hit the beach.

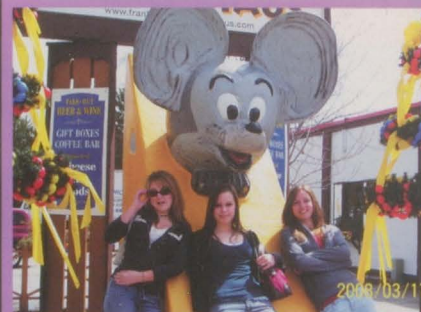

SCENES

Don't you ever just want to get away and hop aboard a train of fun? That's what Spring Break is for. Some students travel out of state to somewhere warm and tropical. There is no greater feeling than lounging in a beach chair with the sun setting upon you and the sand between your toes. "My family and I traveled to Florida and I had such a blast," Tylyn Sawher ('11) said. "I managed to go to the beach almost everyday which is nice since there's no homework to worry about." But a tropical experience isn't the only place to travel for Spring Break. Mountainous, rugged, and western seems to be another desired destination. "Tennessee is such a beautiful place, I just love it there," Danielle Masterton ('11) exclaims. "What I really enjoyed was how it was so mountainous, and the scenery was amazing, I had a good time on my Spring Break." Getting to stay at home, just relishing the idea of relaxation appealed to a lot of students over this break. "I just stayed home on Spring Break, I caught up with friends and I hung out with them," Sara Bowers ('11) remarks. "I had just as much fun as if I would've traveled somewhere." All in all, Spring Break is the time to grab some sun and kick back with your feet up. By: Anne Moore

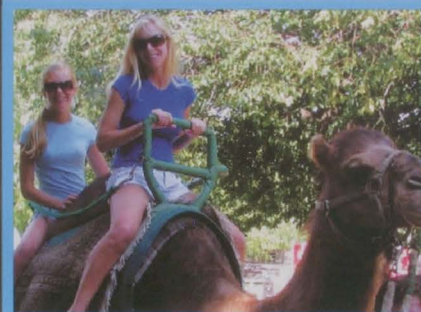

Trying to defy gravity, Sharessa Isabell ('11) and Andrea Mittrink ('11) spend some quality spring break time on the trampoline. Andrea and Sharessa have both been best friends since the 7th grade.

SPRING BREAK

Yep, they're the big cheese! Amber Tomilson, Micheala Shepard, both ('10) and friend headed to Frankenmuth this spring break, and stopped at one of their famous cheese shops.

Who needs horses when you have camels? Alexis Baker ('09) and Jessica Baker ('12) spend their spring break "over looking" Milwaukee.

Kicking up some dirt, James Wilson ('12) conquers the summer terrain. Dirt Biking has recently become a "fast and furious" out door hobby, Turning her face away from the splashing water, Brooke Hillock ('11) enjoys the warm weather in Florida.

Our Future Star:

Do you know Deirdre Danielle Kelly? She was adopted from Romania at three months old. Deirdre loves music, she's a second soprano in Concert Choir, she plays guitar, and something most people don't know about her is she also writes music.

If you don't know Deirdre, you might want to hurry up and meet her soon because Deirdre is almost done with her journey through high school. "My favorite part of my senior year was being able to leave after my third hour for college." Everyone has that one person who helps them get through high school. "My parents helped me so much through high school."

Her advice to the underclassmen about high school is to "Work at it, it will all be worth it in the end, and remember to have fun!"

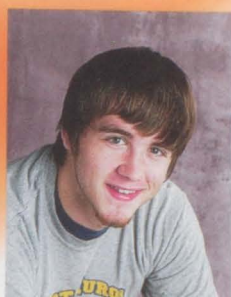

Her plan after high school is to go to Adrian to study music and become a high school music teacher. Altogether Deirdre says she has enjoyed her time here, and will miss it a lot.

The Definition of "Unique"

You may know him as the pink pants man, or maybe the guy with the chocolate cakes or you may know him as the one and only, Tom Weidig. Tom's not afraid to be himself; you may see him sporting a pair of tight, bright pink jeans. Ask him why, he'll say "They're quite comfy and soft, and it's a nice change of pace." He's also known to show everyone one of his major ambitions, owning and running a successful restaurant, by coming to school flaunting his delicious cakes. "I want to be a master chef, there would definitely be cake on the menu, and I have a killer steak, and I mean killer!"

Tom's world revolves around well, the world and the cultures he still has yet to see. "I love foreign countries, so I might study in a different country. I would love to go to Europe, maybe even live there. While there I would like to ski in the Alps. I love skiing and snowboarding and that would be a dream skiing down those mountains!"

To wrap it up in his own words, "There's a lot ahead of me and life moves fast, if you don't stop and get a glimpse of it, you might just miss it." Tom is a pure example that you need to utilize every moment you have here, and that there's so much you can do, why not to it all?

Tattoos! Many people have tattoos but why? And what do they mean? Tattoos are a permanent thing and it is a big decision to get one. When looking at a tattoo you might just see a pretty design but tattoos are so much more than just colored ink on someone's body. Did you know that tattoos can be a memory of a loved one who has passed away? Chris Rapson says "I got my tattoo so I could always have the memory of a high school friend."

They are also used to honor someone, just like Nicole Ennest's who has a tattoo to honor her mother who is her hero. "I got my tattoo over the summer in honor of my mom. She is a breast cancer survivor and my hero."

Tattoos can also show love for something or a hobby that you have. Alex Bateson's tattoo represents his love of music. Alex says, "I decided to get my tattoo because music is a big part of my life and I also designed it to make it more my style." All tattoos have a story behind them, you just have to find it! Here are some tattoos of our graduating seniors...

●headline●

You may have never met Patrick Cansfield but while reading the newspaper, you certainly cannot miss him. Patrick is featured in The Times Herald quite often for his golfing accomplishments. Patrick has been involved in several other sports growing up such as hockey, basketball, and tennis. However, his real passion is for golf. Patrick loves the game so much that if he were to be reincarnated as another animal he would be a gopher and spend his time wreaking havoc on the golf courses.

Patrick is an excellent student as well and plans on attending college to study business or economics, at either Stanford or Pepperdine University.

Patrick also travels around the country with his grandfather participating in golf tournaments and he made the varsity golf team as a freshman. Out of all the courses Patrick has played on, Cypress Point in California has been his favorite. His best round so far was when he shot a 70. When he isn't on the golf course, Patrick also enjoys playing tennis and he made the varsity tennis team as a freshman as well.

Patrick hopes to make it as a professional golfer. His favorite golfer is Adam Scott. He has also said he would be willing to shave off all of his curly locks if he could be Tiger Woods caddy for a tournament. Sorry ladies, but he'll still have the nice smile and big blue eyes.

● Dancing Queen ●

Between choir concerts, taking dance four days a week, and teaching little kids at the dance academy, Erin Austin ('11) still finds time to goof off and have fun with her friends. Erin only started dancing four years ago, but has fallen in love with the music and movement. "Since I've started dancing, I've become obsessed. I should've started way earlier." She takes ballet, jazz, contemporary, lyrical, and pointe, and tries to dedicate most of her week to the dance academy.

For Erin, dance always comes first, but her second love is singing. "I'm a second-soprano in choir, and I'm secretary of the choir junkie." Erin has participated in Solo and Ensemble and plans to compete again; she also loves singing for the civic theatre in choruses for musicals like the play, "Sweeny Todd."

If she's not at the dance academy, then she's hanging out at the Raven typing on her laptop and sipping smoothies. "I love to listen to the random acoustic artists that come there and just kind of hang out. It's a good place to get inspiration."

In her own words, Erin's biggest aspiration is, "Probably just to be content in my life and truly feel like I've done something to change the life of someone else for the better. That's all I want to do, I just want to change the world."

& licensed to drive!

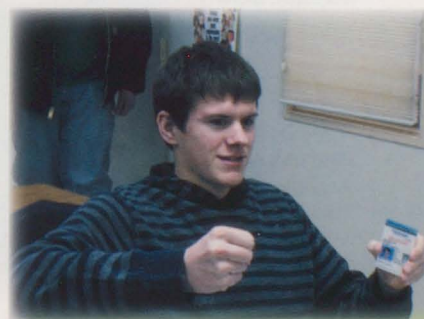

Turning 16 is a monumental point in the lives of America's youth. It's one of those "big" years that bring around a lot of uncharted territory. Not only is 16 sweet, but 16 is the legal age to get behind the wheel and drive! It's evident by the rows of cars that fill up Northern's student parking lot, that driving is a privilege and responsibility that many students have in common. "I'm getting my license before my older sister," says Sophomore Gabrelle Armstrong, "I think it's pretty cool. "I can't wait to spend the summer driving," says Jenny Prax ('10), "My dad said we'll be driving all summer!" Yes, driving something very highly anticipated by students everywhere who are 16, or who are turning 16 sometime soon. "(I'm not) really looking forward to my sweet 16," said Katelyn Barber, ('10), "I haven't taken driver's training so my birthday isn't that exciting." Whether or not you are 16 and getting your license, or are an upperclassmen and are just now getting around to taking that drivers test, it is an exciting time. Even the staff at Port Huron Northern look back and remember getting that little plastic card that certified them as a legal driver. Mrs. Landschoot still remembers getting her license and said "I was 16 and it felt amazing!" No matter when or how you get your license, it is a fun and memorable time. And it's all part of the high school experience that we all share. Buckle up, and students...start your engines!

● Behind the Mask ●

You are suppose to be yourself and show the real you. You are suppose to be independent and follow the beat to your own drum...usually. There is only one place where it is expected that you be someone else. Where else could it be other than the stage? Lindsey Helton is an expert in this field. Yes, this actress knows a thing or two about drama.

"I am working on my fourteenth play right, it's Miracle on 34th street, and the whole cast has been working so hard, it'll be a big success! she says eagerly. Other plays Lindsey has been in include Charlie and the Chocolate Factory, Oliver Twist, James and the Giant Peach, and Annie. In all of her productions, Lindsey has put all of her effort into her performance. "It's a lot more then some people think, we have rehearsal almost everyday and days and days are put behind a show that's only a couple hours long," she explains. With all the hard work who wouldn't be happy with the standing ovations the plays receive. "Nothing is better then seeing the crowd react the way we want them to," Lindsey says smiling. We all know she has a bright future, and with all that experience and talent, who wouldn't?

Head Dogs

Every person is one in a million. We all have our own laugh, our own brain, and our own thoughts. We all end up affecting others either for the good or the bad and sometimes both. Sometimes it's just a "Hi!" and other times its consoling and counseling. One man who has touched a large amount of people would be would be Mr. Wagner. Wagner was a lot of things, he was an advisor, a co-worker, and for a lot – a friend. His humor and advice will be missed. "He is a great friend and a great leader," said Mr. Arena. Wagner, like many things has made a large impression on both staff and students. Danielle Rabine ('10) said, "He brought humor and good attitude to staff and students alike." It won't be the same without Mr. Wagner. Mr. Dahlke exclaimed, "Whoever fills in will need time to get where he was with things." Wagner will be missed but in life every goodbye is a new, "Hello," and although no one can fill his shoes, hopefully someone can make a new pair of their own to fill the void.

-Eric Merrill

“Everybody gets along and is willing to help. People are just friendly here.”
-Mr. Clarkson

“I love interacting with young people and trying to share the love of things with them.”
-Mr. Arena

“The staff here is very welcoming. They are willing to share ideas and material at a moments notice.”
-Mrs. Hand

A Word of Advice...

Over 1500 students, 70+ teachers, 66 rooms, yes Northern is definitely bigger than any middle school you have attended. Don't let that worry you too much because most upperclassmen are willing to help you out. High school should be an enjoyable experience as well as a learning environment. You learn about yourself and become closer to figuring out what you want to do with the rest of your life. Everything becomes different once you make that transition from 8th to 9th grade. Your grades become more important, college is getting closer, and everything you do matters much more. Luckily, some upperclassmen offered their tips and advice to incoming freshmen.

By: Ashley Rich

“Be respectful to your teachers and don't skip class.”

Daniel Jennings ('11)

“Be prepared, high school’s a big deal so take it seriously and have fun, these are the best years of your life.”

Kristi Duty ('12)

“Failing isn’t really that cool, you’ll pay for it later.”

Abigail Schloger ('11)

“Carry gum at all times.”

Morgan Mayer and Megan Armstrong ('09)

“Don’t buy a pool pass or an elevator pass.”

Danielle Masterton ('11)

“Embrace everyone and don’t get too crazy right away.”

Christine Pennington ('10)

“Don’t clog the halls, don’t complain about anything, start preparing for college immediately, get a job ASAP! If you want to be cool find someone with a car.”

Noah Dupes ('10)

“Don’t be afraid to ask for help!”
Mrs. Pall

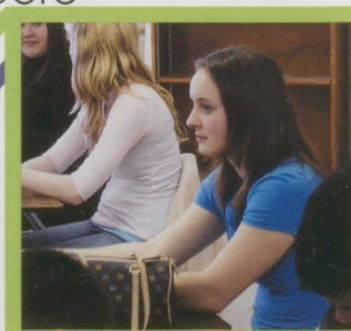

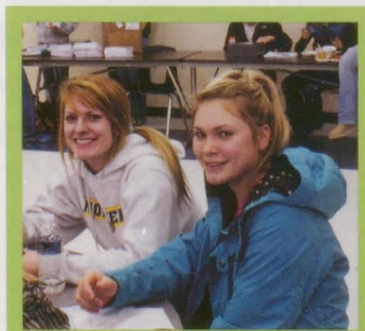

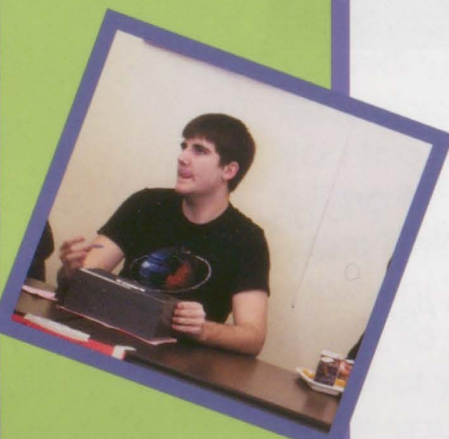

“Don’t stand in the middle of the halls. No one likes that.”

Kelci Lee ('11)

Junior-itis??

So, we've all heard of senior-itis; that period of time where seniors are all too ready to put high school behind them and just graduate already! But how do the Juniors feel around that time of year, on the brink of their transition from second best to top dogs? The doctor is in and it seems that an epidemic of junior-itis might be spreading... High school never fails to be a four-year period of change. Whether the change comes in the form of entering high school for the first time, dating someone new, changing your hair color a time or two, or just picking a new favorite in the lunch line, changes can be found everywhere you look. When asked about what kind of mark she would like the Class of 2010 to leave, Danille Rabine said, "I hope that we will be remembered as a hard-working, fun-loving class." The angst of the Junior class can very much be felt...and from the Class of 2009...it won't be too hard to fight us for the spot!

“ (I feel) nervous and scared about being on the brink of my senior year because I’ve been with the same people for almost four years and now we’ll be apart-its sad. ” Shantell Johson ‘10

-Sir Winston Churchill

One Leap to Success

Aside with a good grade point average on a college resume, being involved within our community and school will also help get you into college. Extra curricular activities help to set you apart from the others applying for the same spot you are.

"They [colleges] want good people that are busy and do things for the community," adds Kelsey Green ('11). This is not a question, being involved in activities will definitely help you get into college, and Northern has a wide selection to choose from. Along with the variety of sports, Northern offers over twenty different activities or organizations, which each offer a unique experience to show what you care about.

Most agree that colleges are more interested in students that are "well rounded", and active within their school and community than those with just good grades.

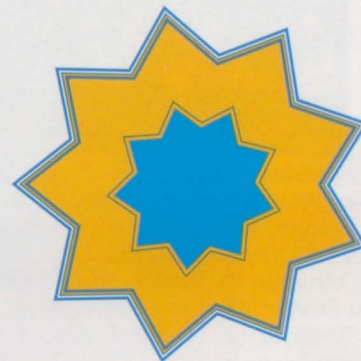

"It show's that you take time out of school's busy schedules to do other things that are important to you and it shows you have a handle on things and can multitask," Kristi Duty ('12).

However, many joined activities because they wanted to, looking good on a resume was just a bonus.

"I play basketball and volleyball. College wasn't really my major priority, I joined because I like the sports," Megan Prax ('12) explains. Rachael Cuthbertsen adds, "I'm in S.A.D.D., dance, and track. I think it will help me get into college, but I joined because it's fun."

Activities definitely help add to your application when applying to a college, but it is not the only reason to join.

Joining an organization because it is fun is much more common among students here at Northern. Northern offers a wide variety of clubs, each with their own unique ideas.

The Symphonic Band performs and leaves a lasting impression with the audience.

Adding a softer tone to the music, Jeremy Case ('09) plays his flute. Jeremy has been a part of Northern's Band Program for 4 years.

More Than What Meets The Ear

Symphonic Band's music is more than just music to the performers. The music is different than any of the other bands, and brings people together.

"The diversity of people who are clearly nothing alike being brought together through music," tells Jeremy Case ('09) of his favorite part of Symphonic Band.

Catherine Oellerich ('11) enjoys, "...helping others and being apart of what Senkmajer calls the team."

The music is always more to people than just sounds and a combination of notes; it brings different people closer together. The friends made in band will last forever.

Concert Band

Taking a moment before their performance begins, the Concert Band finishes getting prepared. Their fall performance was given on October 21st.

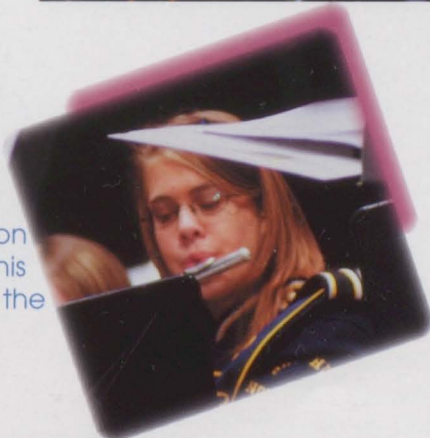

Memorizing the notes to the next song, band members study the next music piece. Concert Band is also known as Cadet Band.

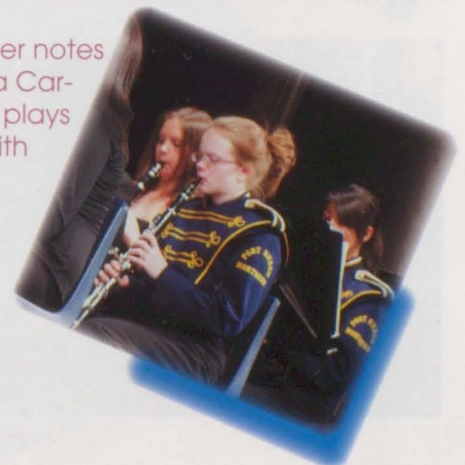

Focusing on giving their best performance, the Concert Band nails every note. The clarinet section of the band adds a special blend of sound to the overall tone.

Reading her sheet music Katie Thrushman concentrates on her performance. This is Katie's first year in the Northern Band.

Hitting all of her notes exactly, Paula Carmichael ('12) plays her clarinet with great ease.

Pausing while their band mates are playing, Zach Smith ('09) left, and Cory Strobey ('12) center, patiently await their turn. It is very important that you stand still in order to keep attention on the people who are playing.

As the crowd got psyched for the performance, Josh Bryce ('11), Safire Lieurance ('12) and Delaney Houle ('12) prepared for their part. With all the hard work put in, the presentation was outstanding.

Preparing for another spectacular performance, the Husky Band is playing with pride for their team. They were the source of spirit and excitement for many Northern fans.

The Pursuit of Perfection

Can you imagine going to band camp in the middle of summer? Well, marching band members go for a whole week! During band camp, the members learn how to march and play for the halftime show at football games. But, how do they learn the drills that we, the fans, see at the football games? Jeremy Case ('09) explains, "At band camp, everyone is assigned a number and given a set sheet. The set sheet contains our music and the formations on the field. We memorize our own formations and that is what you see at halftime." It seems like a lot of work but marching band and band camp has its moments. "Every four years we go on a trip, like to Disney World" says Rebecca Romzek ('10).

Also, why is band camp so fun? When asked, Danny Case ('11) answered, "You are gone for a week with your friends and you get to meet new people. Also, with long hours and little sleep, people get crazy."

Although marching band is a lot of work, there are those priceless moments, and a ton of fun, that those involved will never forget.

Jazz Band

During the first concert of the year, the Jazz Band performs during the transition periods between all three Concert Bands. Jazz Band members have to dash around the stage as it is composed of members from all three Concert Bands.

Waiting for a moment, the Jazz Band prepares to perform in the first concert of the year.

Demonstrating her talent, Bristol Burns ('09) plays her way to success.

Rocking out, Nolan Romzek ('10) shows the crowd his serious skills. Nolan has been a member of PHN's band for 3 years.

Patiently awaiting a cue from Mr. Senkmajer, the Jazz Band waits for a striking moment to amaze the audience.

WIND ENSEMBLE

Unforgettable Memories

Some of the most talented musicians in the school, the most devoted, and the ones who share a love for music fills the Wind Ensemble. The Wind Ensemble plays harder and more complex songs than the other bands offered here at Northern.

"Wind Ensemble is the top band offered, we play more exciting and technically challenging music than what you would hear in other bands," explains Joel Smith ('09).

The only way to enter Wind Ensemble is to audition for Mr. Senkmajer. "Mr. Senkmajer puts a lot of time and effort into his job and cares for the bands. He teaches us a lot about music and sets high standards for us," states Alison Tseng ('09).

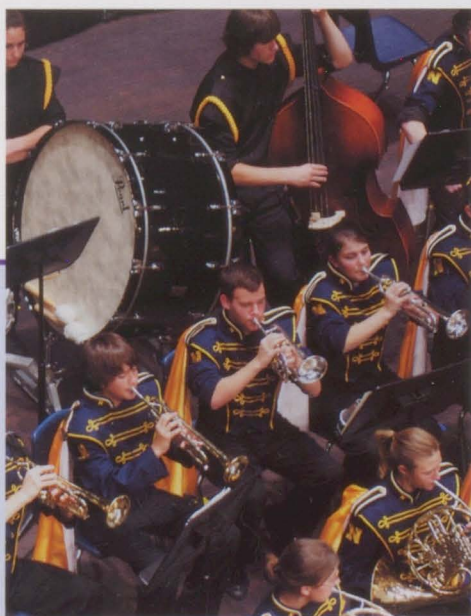

As always everything you work towards pays off. Many memories are made and will last forever in this band. "One of my favorite memories is going to New York City because it was exciting seeing the city with my friends," Brandon Johnston ('10)

Northern and Scotland's Finest

Concert Choir is the school's highest choir made up of both men and women. The choir generally performs harder songs than any of the other choir's.

A fun thing that the concert choir has done the past two years is singing with Caledon, which is a group of three Scottish tenors that come here from Scotland to sing with a few high school choirs. Concert Choir said that they are grateful for the opportunity to sing with Caledon and very much enjoys listening and getting to know Caledon!

"When they do a whole bunch of well known songs in their own interpretation," Carley Gilbert ('09) says when asked her favorite part of Caledon.

Concert Choir worked very hard to get where they're at, and hopes to always keep improving.

Drama Club

Drama Kings & Queens

Asking her father, J.D. Dunn ('09), for Colleen's room, Jessica Baker ('12) pleads for the chance to have it.

Pretending to be a dog, Cullen Willard ('11) rehearses for his role as Snoopy.

Your palms are ever so sweaty and your heart thumps through your chest. The creases in your forehead wrinkle ever so slightly. Your legs are like stone and your body immovable. But to most actors in Northern's Drama Club, it's all worth it in the end. Performing and presenting yourself on stage is one of the best feelings in the world. When else do you get a chance to be someone you are not?

"The best part about drama club is when you and all your new friends get a good reaction out of the crowd," assistant stage director Sarah Hughes ('11) said. Drama Club is a treat for all kinds of characters. The essence to Drama Club comes in all shapes and sizes and in various packages. These actors make it all look very easy and passé. But whoever said it was going to be easy before it's hard? Auditions are held months in advance, lines have to down pat to the very core of their minds, you have to find the correct outfit, you have to know how to work with all sort of people, and most importantly no stage fright. "We work very hard, but it is so worth it," Mitchell Johnston ('10) said.

The Drama Club productions are always very highly thought of. It's their uncanny ability to twist and turn scripts to make it entertaining and full of life that brings all walks of life to this Performing Arts Center. Weeks before production, plans are made with friends and family in anticipation for this set of backstage and onstage group of kids to fulfill their world-renowned reputation. But the way they earn this reputation is not from just the actors but also from the people behind the curtain. "It gets pretty crazy backstage; there are lights, sounds, curtain pullers, stage directors, make-up and hair artists running around in a fit of chaos to make these actors as comfortable and amazing as truly possible. We cram for glory and applause down to a T and even though it may not seem like it, we enjoy what we do," Jordan Quandt ('11) says.

All in all, what Drama Club comes down to is life. It's life because self-expression is what this varying group of prodigious people bring to the foreground and to the backdrop of each and everyday. It's as if Halloween is an ever vast marathon in Drama Club, everyone puts on a face and act out their part and at the end we all get to take off our masks and see what greatness has been accomplished.

Impressing the students with his cooking expertise, a chef amazes the Diversity Club at Shoguns. Diversity Club goes to a variety of restaurants to experience different cultures.

OPERATION DIVERSITY

Being a brand new activity started this year, Diversity Club has been welcomed very popularly among students. Diversity Club promotes a better understanding of different cultures and the acceptance of those cultures.

"I started Diversity Club so students here at PHN can better understand the array of cultures around them. I believe better cultural understanding makes a person more well-rounded. It's essential that students are aware of the unique cultural diversity present in America today and appreciate others differences," Kelcie Jimenez ('09) explains.

Diversity Club has been an enjoyable experience for many of its members because of friends, and the different cultural activities.

"I like that we get involved with learning about other countries. It's also fun that we get to travel around to other cities that have to do with the country we are learning about," Stephen Foglesong ('09) says.

Brad Harder ('10) adds, "I enjoy the people, and the overall experience of Diversity Club. We are always having fun, but at the same time we are learning about different cultures."

"I like hanging out with my friends while learning about different cultures," Says Allison Croteau ('11) who joined Diversity Club because it sounded interesting.

As Diversity Club continues to grow, the message of being more appreciative of cultural diversity expands also. Hopefully this popular and enriching activity remains at Northern for decades to come.

Don't Break the Law!

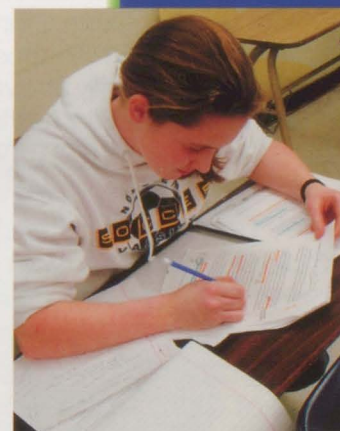

For all the future lawyers and defense attorneys, the chance to practice your skills is here with Northern's Mock Trial team. Mock Trial is a group of students who take on roles and compete against other teams, in front of real judges and lawyers. The cases are designed to be similar to those in a real court.

Practice makes perfect for this team. It takes a great deal of skill to prepare their arguments and uncover the truth of a fake case. There is no set script to follow, so members must be able to bounce with the other teams' strategies. The Mock Trial experience is a hands-on way to learn about the way courts are really run. Annie Rushton ('11) has been in Mock Trial for two years and says, "I was really interested in pursuing law as a career, so I figured that it was a good way to try it out. The people are really great and it's just a lot of fun, but you also learn about trial law at the same time."

"It's a great experience because you learn about the legal system and it helps you with public speaking," Annie explains. "It really shows you how everything works, because you have to prepare an argument for both sides of a case. Mock Trial is almost like a debate team in a way."

In all, Mock Trial is a great way to have fun, meet friends, and see if you're interested in a law career.

Leading the S.H.A. conference, Chad Hughes ('10) explains this year's goals. Chad is this year's S.H.A. President.

Listening to Chad Hughes's lecture, S.H.A. members pay close attention to the future's schedule.

Conversing over ideas on how to make healthier decisions, S.H.A. members enjoy the time with friends too!

Apple's to Apple's

Did you know there is a half a stick of butter in a McDonald's Big Mac? Did you know that there is a whole stick of butter in a theatre sized popcorn? Well, that's what Students for a Healthy America is all about. In S.H.A. they learn all about those scary, unhealthy foods and ways to improve diets and how to receive proper nutrition.

"What I get from S.H.A. is a deeper understanding of Type 2 diabetes and how to keep my lifestyle healthy. I also receive the satisfaction of knowing that I'm helping others in my community build their knowledge," Bianca Marrogy ('11) said. There are things special and interesting about learning how to eat healthy. When you share what you know and provide a good example to a younger crowd.

"We would go to local middle schools and present information on fatty foods, ways to improve lifestyles and help them understand the benefits of remaining healthy," Jordan Quandt ('11) exclaimed.

All in all, Students for a Healthy America leaves a lasting effect on student's outlook on life. "What I learned from S.H.A. has put a new point on how I view my choices on my health and fitness from here on out," Kelsey Green ('11) replied.

Selling raffle tickets and handing out red ribbons, Alexis Green ('09) and Morgan Mayer ('09) hands out a ribbon when a promise is written. A student's promise is a good decision, which is what SADD promotes.

Announcing SADD's upcoming events, Shaya Jewani ('10) brings all members up to date on what has been going on.

Shaya is this year's SADD President, and has been a member of SADD for 3 years.

Working together, Corey Brown ('09) and Joey Koehn ('09), put up posters advertising SADD's Great Pumpkin Raffle. The raffle offers great prizes in return for helping SADD.

Creating the strips to be used for the Promise Chain, Rachael Cuthbertson ('12) cuts the paper precisely. This is Rachael's first year in SADD.

Showing us just how much fun he's having, Adam Foglesong ('10) gives an exuberant expression. The attitude of all the leaders was very positive, which gave the freshman a boost of confidence.

Demonstrating a sample mediation, the peers are there to help their fellow classmates. Peer Mediation's role is to assist individuals or groups with their personal problems or their disagreements.

Making lunch for the hungry freshman, Mrs. Maggs, Mrs. Murphy, and Mrs. Wiley put together the hot dogs. This was the third year that the orientation was given to the incoming freshman.

Taking a break from eating their lunches in the courtyard, a great group of friends smiles for a picture. At lunch, friends who haven't seen each other over the summer, caught up with one another.

Getting ready for the pep-assembly performance, the band members go over the notes. The show was spectacular; it got the crowd on their feet.

Laughing at a joke his newfound friend told, Cody Burch ('12) enjoys his lunch period even more. Lunch, which was served by the administrators, consisted of hotdogs, chips, cookies, and pop.

Giving an example of a pretend scenario, the peer mediators perform a skit for the ninth graders. They gave multiple different situations, some were serious and some were just for laughs.

Appreciating social time with friends, many students gather together to meet new ones. Husky Link relieved some of the pressures that high school brings towards the ninth graders.

Working hard at getting the freshman their books, Dominique Lewis ('10) and Lauren Ordowski ('09) search for the required books. The marketing class was in charge of the registration of books, and worked the entire six hour shift.

Pausing a moment during the school tour, Sarah Harvey ('12), Kristi Duty ('12), and LaKiera Duncan ('12), pose for a photo. The tour is one of the most important part of the orientation because it shows the freshman the winds and turns of the school.

Germanist: a specialist in German or Germanic language, literature, or culture. We have a group of these specialists right down the hall. They are German Club. Why German Club?

"German Club can help me with my future career and to bring the school the German culture," Caitlin Combs ('10) informs. Many German students feel this way about German Club.

"The best part about German Club is I have the ability to expand my German vocabulary with my peers," Tom Weidig ('09) says. But why is German Club different than other clubs?

"German Club focuses solely on the German language and culture," explains the activity advisor, Mrs. Pall. The German Club finds interesting ways to learn about German culture. One of the most prevalent ways is watching German movies. They display the differences between German culture and our own, and that is what the club is all about.

The 3.5 assembly this year has awarded several students for the academic achievement of having a GPA of 3.5 or higher. Only upperclassmen can receive this award. Sophomores receive a pin, Juniors are awarded an academic letter and Seniors receive a bar for their letter. All students are also presented a certificate each year. Operation!

Do you have a weak stomach? Then Anatomy and Physiology is not the class for you. This year the anatomy classes had the opportunity to experience a live open knee surgery in the Performing Arts Center. The students didn't know what to expect exactly. "I thought it was very interesting, and it was nice to see the surgery in practice instead of in theory," states Eric Thiele ('10)

These students wouldn't have been able to see and gain more knowledge about anatomy without this wondrous patient, who volunteered to allow doctors show their surgery live to hundreds of students across the state. Even though it was quite emotional, it made students truly appreciate the knowledge that comes from anatomy.

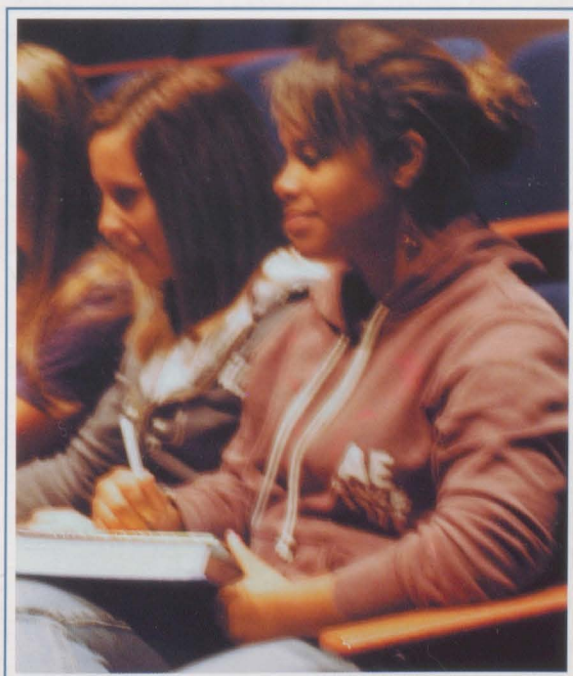

This knee surgery was a key component to many students who are looking to go into a particular medical field in the vast future.

"All clear... stand by for incision," says leading Doctor Politi. Mrs. Panzer's Anatomy class records the fascinating details of the surgery, such as; the patient's height, weight, and the cause of the surgery. All five anatomy classes were in attendance to learn how the doctors solve a knee problem such as this.

While working on the assigned worksheet, Nicole Jackson pays extra attention while watching the live knee surgery. Nicole plans on a future career in relation to Anatomy, Nicole Jackson ('10) states, "I would really like to go into sports medicine because I enjoy sports and helping others."

If you have to find the limit $2h-2/h$ then Mr. Jamison, Mr. Cook, or Miss Roach are the people to ask. Mr. Jamison has been teaching for 14 years at Northern and has taught every math class ever offered. When asked why he became a teacher Mr. Jamison replied, "I love the problem solving and challenging the students." Mr. Cook is a man of humor and brightens everyone's day with his teachings. Mr. Cook loves math and the way technology has grown. "I use calculators daily and I have an interactive whiteboard that assists me on graphing," says Mr. Cook. Another teacher you can ask for math problems is Miss Roach. She has been teaching and coaching softball for three years, "I began teaching to help students enjoy and understand math as much as I do," says Miss Roach. It is a fact that if you need math help one of these teachers will be able to help you. They love math and are three of a kind.

Do you like problem solving? If so math class is the place to be! Here at Northern there is a wide variety of math courses offered. From basic algebra to A.P. Calculus, the teachers here want to challenge you and help you succeed.

Math now-a-days is taught in several different ways, such as in Mr. Cook's class, Christine Pennington ('10) when asked what's your favorite part of your math class, replied, "There's a cool projector and there are fun people in the class."

Many students feel that the math class they are taking is used in several ways to everyday life. "I like learning how to apply equations that we use in math class to real life situations," said Joel Smith ('09).

Others enjoy math to challenge themselves, or help prepare them for college. Danielle Rabine ('10) was asked, "How do you think math can prepare you for college?" she responded with, "I will probably have math in college, and depending on my major it will help a lot." Whether you yourself take math for college prep or to just challenge your mind, the teachers here at Northern are here to help you succeed.

Electives are an excellent opportunity for a student to show a side of themselves that no one knows about. There is a huge variety of electives offered here, but these are the student's top choices. Sports Theories, Foreign Language, Psychology, Band and Radio are all very exciting classes to take. Learning is the universal path to everyone's success in life. Ever since you were a child it's all been about English. Learning the language, speaking the language, and last but not least writing the language! Northern offers a variety of English classes to take to improve your English! Do you enjoy writing? Prepping herself for a lecture in Mr. Arena's A.P. Language class, Nicole Young ('10) finds "Night" an intriguing novel that has a deep and powerful message.

What's In

Each day we wake up and prepare ourselves for another school day, but do we realize that we are not just going to school we are preparing ourselves for our future. This year the class of 2009 experienced this on a new level through portfolio day. "Portfolio day is a day that seniors go and interview with people in the community," states Catherine Goetz. This provides the students in the P.O.D. classes to see how prepared they are for life on their own.

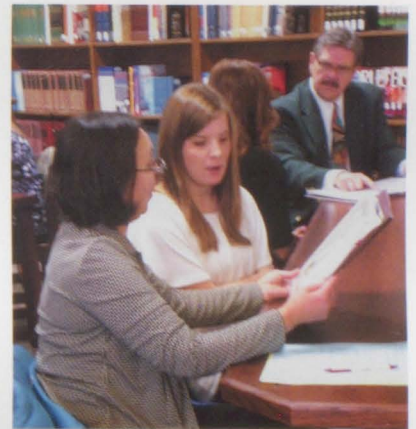

When Alex Hawkins was asked how will this make you stronger in looking for colleges, he replied, "I will be more prepared for real life job finding situations." Portfolio Day allows seniors to experience what different careers and pathways they can strive in.

Showing her beautiful smile Devon Fenner ('09') prepares for her interview, making sure her portfolio is flawless. Devon says, "My most valued object in my portfolio is my Senior Activity Student Award."

While reviewing her portfolio, Michelle Mathews (09') corresponds to her interviewers questions. "It was disappointing that I was being interviewed by someone not in the field I'm interested in."

Jansyn Southgate-Smith and Jordan Kerr

Remember the saying, "This town isn't big enough for the two of us?" Well, there's plenty of room for two varsity baseball pitchers, seniors Jordan Kerr and Jansyn Southgate-Smith. Jordan has been playing ever since his dad got him into it when he was very young. "I play first base also because I'm gumpy and have good hands," jokes Jordan. Jansyn says, "I just love the game and can't get enough of it." He loves being with the players who enjoy and respect the game as much as he does. "Our players have a lot of pride and work very hard to be the best we can be all the time, and Jansyn and Jordan are perfect examples of that dedication," said Coach Dwyer about his two top starting pitchers. "It's also very cool that they have played together their whole lives and they are best friends." That dedication and friendly rivalry should push these two to be key elements of the 2009 season.

"Just a bit outside" Andrew Fadell (08') takes ball for one of his many important trips to the plate. After not playing his junior season, Andrew helped the Huskies by playing both first base and catching.

Showing a last second burst of speed, Andrew Seppo ('09) beats the throw to first base. Andrew has also helped the team as a courtesy runner for either the pitcher or catcher.

"Rounding third and heading for home is a blue eyed handsome man." Kevin Burns (08') scores on a Husky base hit.

Fielding a late throw, Kevin Burns (08') just misses an out on an attempted stolen base. Kevin was a valuable player playing seven different positions during the season.

"Here's the windup, and the pitch!" Nathan Manis ('11) delivers his best fastball to the plate during a key JV match up with PHHS. As a freshman, Manis held the Big Reds scoreless in front of a packed house at Sanborn Park.

Preparing to run Tyler Smith('11) nails the ball to the outfield. Tyler get on base a lot and has a on base percentage of .511.

Awaiting the strong pitch Trent Beebe('11) prepares to catch the ball. Trent played on the JV team as a freshmen and was a huge help.

Scooping up a grounder, Tyler Corrigan ('11) makes a clutch defensive play. Tyler was also very successful re-acing base as a hitter posting a .500 on base percentage.

Hustling after a wild pitch, Wade Holcomb ('11) attempts to keep the opposing base runner from advancing. Wade hit well finishing with a .385 batting average.

Home

Whistling through the air is a pitch thrown by Travis Sparr ('11) who is concentrating on throwing a strike to the opposing batter. Travis also was a quality outfielder for the 9th grade squad.

4the ball

Attempting to deceive the opposing defense, Tyler Thomas ('09), starts an option play that requires him to give the ball to whatever running back has the best chance of scoring, or keeping the ball himself. Thomas' good judgment made the option play an effective one for the Husky offense.

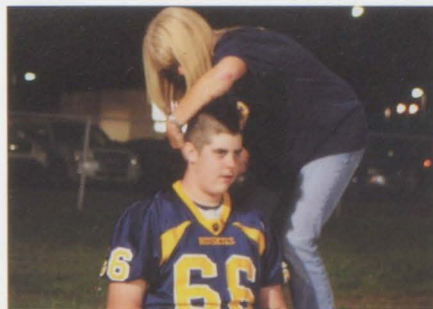

"The game is won or lost in the trenches", explains Coach Kuscera. Plays like this one show the battle that takes place as the Huskies and the PHHS Big Reds fight to win the line of scrimmage.

Diving to make a key tackle against the PHHS Big Reds, Jovan Collier ('09) stops the ball carrier after a short gain. The Huskies lost to the Big Reds 20-14 in a very exciting game before a capacity crowd.

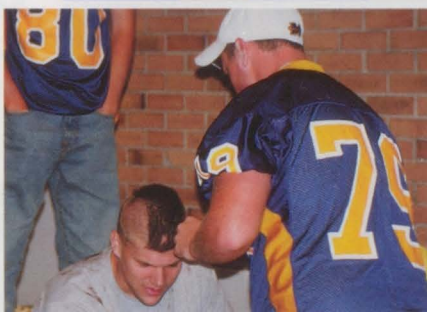

Leading the way, offensive lineman, Bobby Romzek ('09), opens a huge hole for his running back, Colby Brooks ('09). Any football fan will tell you that without a good offensive line, any running back will have a difficult time being successful.

Displaying his Husky Pride, Michael Hurd ('10) gets his head shaved

Next! Montez Elash ('10) recruits a teammate Bobby Romzek ('09) to get him into the team spirit.

Getting it right, Bobby Romzek ('09) performs the delicate and important shaving task for his teammate, Jordan Matthews ('09).

Mohawks

Each year when we're all rallying up for the PH game, you see it in the hallways numerous times. Yes, it would be the infamous Mohawks. For senior Bobby Romzek the Mohawks have been a tradition. Bobby says "The Mohawks were done to fire up the team for the PH game week." How did this tradition come about and why is a question we often find ourselves asking. "Last year the JV team started shaving their heads, one guy started and then the next until everyone did it, also this was a way for the team to bond together," said Coach Kuscera. This tradition has transformed the team into being more motivated and working better together.

Starting fast and finishing strong, Tyler Smith ('11) and Zach Smith ('09) look to establish a pace. Interval training as well as team running drills prepare the team for the worst.

Running up a hill at the Marysville Invitational, Brian Brooks ('09) looks as if he's running on air. Coaches and athletes strive to make this ability possible.

Tired and sore, David Heise ('09) needs to focus and buckle down in the clutch to finish the race. It's not the distance of the race that matters, it's the ability to perform under pressure.

Tennis is no laughing matter; it's quite a serious sport. For Patrick Cansfield, his favorite thing about the sport is the atmosphere that being on the team brings, but now Patrick has suffered a serious set back this season. Patrick suffered a shoulder injury when his humorous bone was broke, it became pretty serious and he can't play again till March. Though Patrick didn't let some injury put him away from seeing his teammates in action. "I was at every practice tournament to support them." Patrick is waiting with anticipation to return to the green turf he knows and loves.

Concentrating on the ball hitting the racket Connor McCalmon ('12) aims the ball to the most challenging spot for his opponent to reach. The main idea behind tennis is to hit the ball where the opponent cannot reach.

Hoping to end the round, Hugh Cann ('10) wants to win the match. Hugh was able to overcome the hardships of losing many of his former JV players to Varsity but still managed to helped out his team a lot during the season.

about alex

Being a cheerleader is not just about routines and flimsy ribbons. Cheerleading takes heart and teamwork as Alex Scituro knows. "I think I have brought a sense of leadership and positive energy to my team," she remarks. "Alex is extremely dependable and very talented, her personality is a standout, she's always making the girls laugh," Coach Christine Cuppen says. For Alex there is nothing like a good challenge. "I like the challenge, learning new stunting and gymnastic skills. It's really a sport that you have to do a lot of team bonding."

Samantha Lindsey

What player on the varsity team stands out the most? "Samantha Lindsey because of her leadership skills," says Coach Dickinson. Samantha has been playing basketball for five years this being her second year on varsity. Her favorite thing about basketball is how there is always something going on and that you can't ever relax. Even though she suffered an injury in her SI joint she continues to be a leader and continues to give her teammates support.

Inbounding the ball for the huskies is Georgia Rae Jones ('11). This is Georgia's first year playing varsity basketball.

Providing excellent defense is Chantelle Randall('11) forcing a pass from the other team. This is Chantelle's second year playing high-school basketball for Port Huron Northern.

Holding the ball, Kelly Kramer ('10) is looking for an open person to pass to. This is Kelly's third year playing highschool Basketball.

Sprinting down the court, Andrea Rumley ('12) challenges her opponent. This is Andrea's first year for high school basketball.

Zig-Zaging through opponents, freshman Cheyenne Lepoirs, heads for the basket. Playing a highschool sport is very demanding between all the practices, games, and tournaments.

Providing excellent offense is Lauren Buck ('12) forcing her way around her challenger for a shot. Lauren doesn't only play basketball but also swims for the Red Dawgs.

Thinking fast, Austin Shell ('10) decides whether to steal from his opponent or to keep guarding to prevent a possible shot. Although basketball is a fast game including speed and skill, it also takes a great amount of mental strength.

Taking advantage of a break-away, Mark Perez ('11), sprints down the court to make a basket. As a sophomore, Perez was the youngest player on the team, which is quite an accomplishment to make varsity.

Playing aggressive post defense, Trevor Loftus ('09) intimidates the Dakota forward. Trevor has played basketball all four years and two years on varsity.

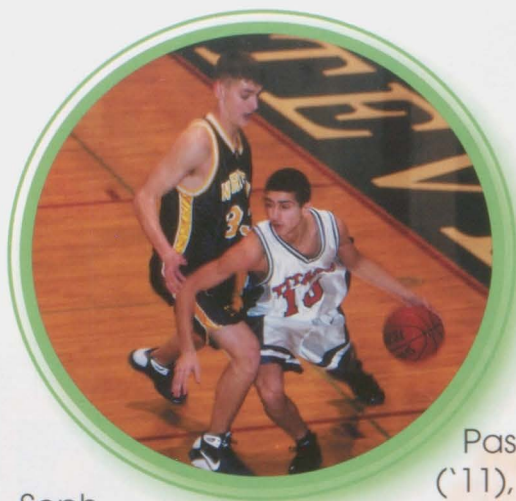

Lance Cusac

The ball is definitely in Lance Cusac's court. Lance has been playing basketball all his life. "I think the team aspect and the fun we have" is Lance's favorite aspect of basketball. "He leads the team in scoring and is one of the top rebounders. He is an explosive player with the versatility to play multiple positions," Coach Jamison says. He plays power forward and center and he is in his second year on varsity. Lance has an "up beat tempo" which he always brings to the team.

Garrett Willard, Colby Brooks, Alex Zondlak, Derek Thompson

"It's very difficult to name one standout on my wrestling team. The reason for that is that we are a team and have no room for individuals. I would have to say my four seniors, Colby Brooks, Derek Thompson, Garrett Willard, and Alex Zondlak, these four that started in 9th grade," Coach Meinhardt said. Derek Thompson is in the 160 weight group." The one on one aspect of the sport is my favorite," he replies. Derek's team mate Alex Zondlak is also in his weight class. "Totally dominating another opponent," Alex says is his favorite aspect. There's also Garrett Willard in the 125 weight group. "Beating someone who was expected to beat you. It gives you a sense of accomplishment," Garrett says about what he gains from wrestling. Last but not least there's Colby Brooks in the 152 weight group. His favorite thing he says is, "Being able to win because as an individual sport you don't have to rely on others," he remarks. Coach Meinhardt has nothing but respect for these boys. "We are in a time when people tend to flee from hardwork and dedication and these boys stayed out for the team," he remarks.

Twist AND

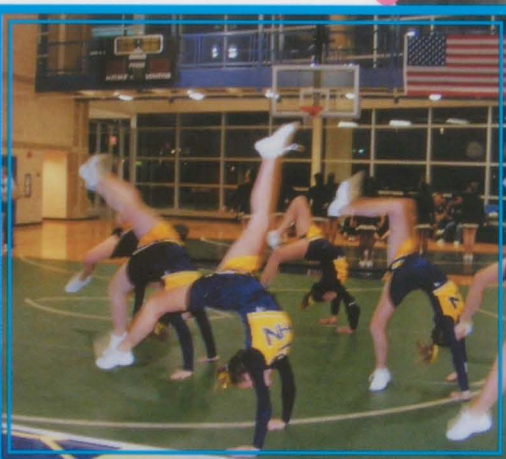

Anxiously awaiting for their results, the varsity cheerleaders come together to see what place they took at their competition.

Taking a few moments the competitive cheer team goes over last minute details before taking their turn on the mat. The Huskies pay attention to their form, skills, and their overall performance before they compete, so they do their very best.

With perfect form and time Brittany Petho ('11) flaunts her skills for the judges.

Hands on hips, smiles on lips! They are ready to rock the floor in round 3. The girls get ready in their formation making sure everyone is in their correct spot.

Front and center Alexandria Scitunno ('09) leads the ladies in their splits before competing. Making sure everyone has their toes pointed and formation correct is crucial before heading to the mat.

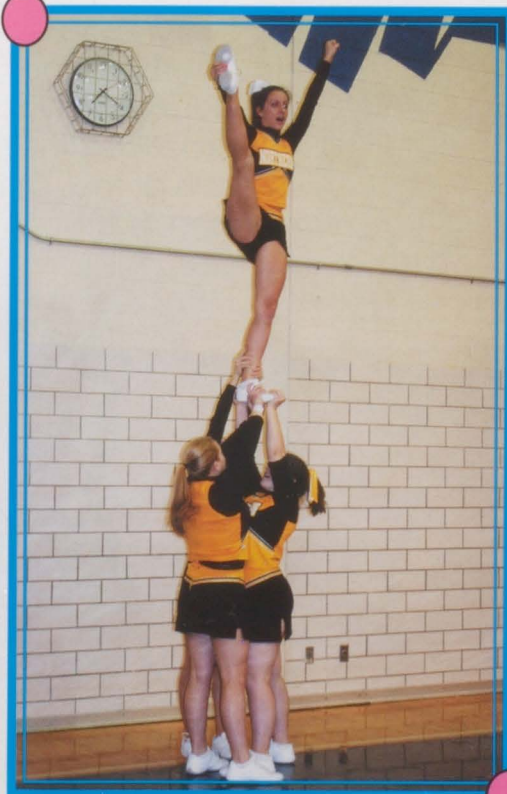

Shout

Punching their motions with passion the Husky girls show the crowd what they've got. The ladies practice everyday after school, working on stunts, skills, and their cheers.

With elegant ease, Tracy Dewey ('11) flies gracefully around the ice. Tracy is executing a lay back spin which requires a lot of practice and confidence in your skills.

Avery Wine

Figure skating is not only a sport, but an art, too. Avery Wine has a passion for skating. "I love all the people and just having fun." Avery has been skating a total of 12 years and has been on Northern's Figure Skating Team for four years. Figure Skating Advisor, Ms. Kamer, has only positive things to say about Avery, "Avery always has a positive attitude and likes to keep everyone entertained--She shows off her talent with style and flair." When asked about improvement Avery says, "yes, I have improved and I have gained more confidence and more skating experience." Skating takes a lot of hard work and commitment and Avery has proved herself to be a true leader.

After letting go of the ball Steven Remick ('10) watches to see how many pins he knocks down. This is Steven's third year on the boys bowling team.

Aiming for the number ten pin Briana Harvey ('10) hopes for a spare. This is Briana's third year bowling for the girls bowling team.

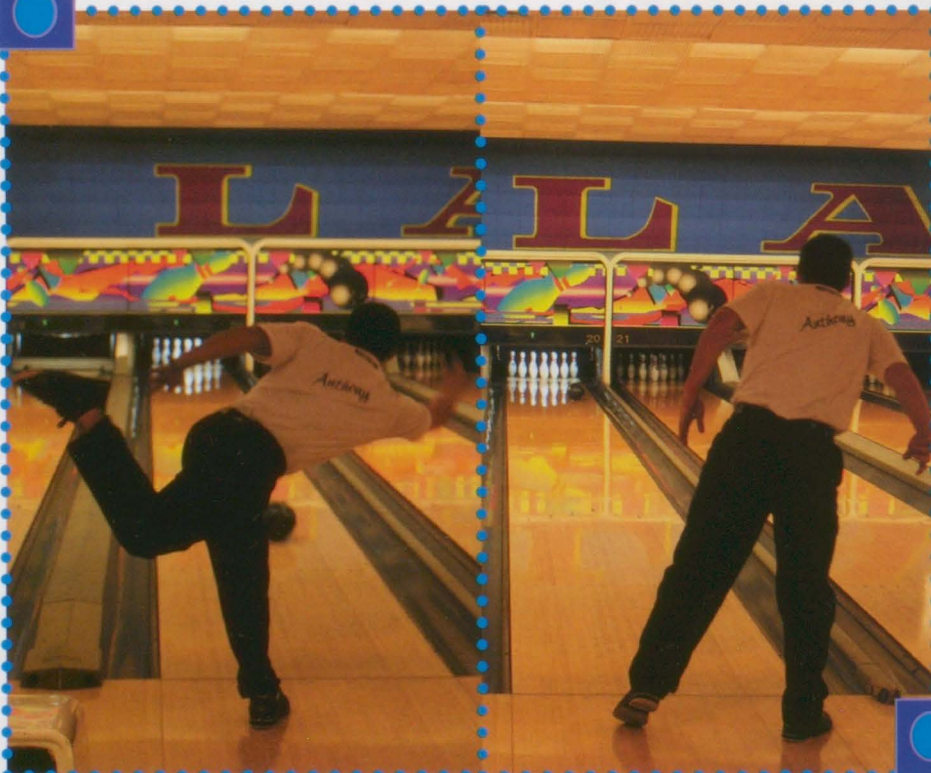

Releasing the ball Justin Guyette ('11) waits with anticipation. Justin has been bowling for two years on the Northern's bowling team.

With a strong release Stephanie Krauss ('12) watches the ball roll closer to the pins. Stephanie has been around bowling all her life and it isn't just a sport to her it is life.

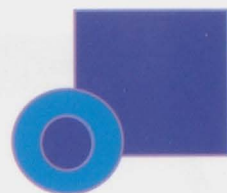

With a powerful throw Leo Anthony ('09) waits for the results. Leo had five straight strikes in his match against Sterling Heights, and has had a perfect score (which is 300) two times.

After her release Lindsey Sheridan ('12) watches the ball intently. Speed and the way the ball hit's the pins determines how many pins fall.

Putting a spin on the ball Matthew Furman ('09) aims for the ten pin left standing alone.

Arms out wide Kathryn Thrushman ('12) re-releases the ball. Kathryn made the JV team as a freshman.

Watching the pins fall Sharessa Isabell ('11) hopes for a strike. The girls had so many bowlers try out they needed to form two teams and Sharessa was chosen for the JV team.

Kings of the

Tyler Thomas

Hockey isn't an easy sport to play... you have to have talent, the ability to skate well, and the desire to work hard. Tyler Thomas possesses all those qualities he says he loves hockey "Because it's fast and physical" Tyler has been skating since age four and has played Hockey at Northern for four years. "I play wing, I like it because you get a lot of scoring opportunities and you can be physical." Because Hockey takes continuous skill training, Tyler feels that this year he has gotten "a lot stronger and faster." Tyler Thomas has a true talent for the game of Hockey and he is a true leader. Northern has surely been lucky to have had Tyler the past four years.

By: Alli Moore

Helping out the goalie, Dylan Perry ('09) plays some defense. When playing defense you help the goalie by keeping the puck as far away from the net as possible.

Playing rough, Christopher Hopper ('09) checks a Grosse Pointe North player. Hockey is a very competitive sport and you have to be willing to fight for the puck.

One handed, Tyler Comstock ('09) is able to control the puck rushing to the opponents net. Tyler is one of many forwards on the team this year and has many years of experience as a hockey player.

Heading toward the net, Joe Mathews ('09) hustles to beat his opponent. Joe is talented in all sports, and along with Varsity hockey he also played Varsity football for Northern this year.

Rink

Waiting for the right moment John Hayes ('09) pauses to see his opponents. Johnny plays defense and has been playing hockey since he was four years old.

No one said Hockey was easy, as Assistant Captain Mitchell Fernandez ('09) fights his opponent for the puck. Mitchell has played Varsity hockey on the Northern team for three years.

Facing off with a Grosse Pointe North opponent, Alex Mirkin ('09) watches the referee intently so he can get control of the puck first. Alex is one of two Assistant Captain's this year.

Protecting the net, Wade Holcomb ('11) makes sure the puck stays away from the goal. Wade is a very talented player in all sports, besides being a goalie for the Winter Season during the Spring Season Wade is a catcher on the baseball team.

The Year In Review

2008 was a year to remember. It brought forth many changes, challenges and surprises. It gave way to 2009, a year just begun, but a year that is already making history. As we look back on the events that will make text books your children will flip through in the future, it is important to step back and take in all the changes that are happening right in front of us. We are anxious to see what 2009 will bring....!

What happened this year?

Summer Fun

Hundreds gathered this past August, to float in tubes down the St. Clair River. The Annual Floatdown had a highly anticipated return and overwhelming numbers after it was canceled for the past several years.

An ice jam in the Black River and warm temperatures caused the Port Huron canals to flood over 12 feet this past winter. Neighborhoods, fire fighters and local organizations joined together to build sandbag walls to try to protect local homes from flooding.

Flood

Port Huron Icehawks held the Number one spot in the League!

Hockey!

The Port Huron Area School District announced that they will be closing several local schools. Including Sparlingville Elementary, Chippewa Middle School, Lakeport Elementary and Kimball Elementary.

The Annual Silver Sticks Tournament, held at McMorran drew in families and audiences from across the country.

school closings

New YMCA

Port Huron finished a brand-new, beautiful YMCA, along the St. Clair River. The building immediately drew large crowds of new members and was used for several local events.

So life isn't exactly a game.

When we get sent back to start and have to search that deck of cards for the bigger picture, we know we'll always be alright. We've got a solid foundation to rely on and home isn't such a scary place. We've all grown and changed together, connected by the obstacles, the chances we've all taken a time or two, the memories that have been made through years of innocence and self discovery, and the blocks that have been pieced together that have made us who we are today.

The finish line isn't so far off.

We've been given the tools to create for ourselves the futures we desire most. We've all been playing in the same game; looking for the highest test grade, searching for the perfect answer, reaching for that goal that doesn't seem so far out of reach. The game is life and we've all got the ability to control our own destiny. The twists and turns should be no match because in the end, we're all winners.

On Your Mark...

The time is now to follow the winding game board that we relate to as life. The future is at our fingertips and these past four years of growth and change are only a foundation; the way we roll the dice is up to us. The directions are all what you make of them Class of 2009...

Get Set...and GO!

Acknowledgments

The 2008-2009 Yearbook Staff like to offer their thanks to all those who helped to make this yearbook a success. We would first like to thank all of our administrators, especially Mr. Dahlke, for being so helpful and understanding throughout the year. We could never have gone without our "student teacher" Mrs. P, thank you so much for everything! We owe a big thank you to Mrs. Brennan for handling our finances and helping us arrange the funding for this year's book. Our gratitude goes out to Mrs. Cassidy, Mrs. Wilton and Mrs. Cadrette for helping us find the "pieces of the puzzle" we may have been missing. Thank you to all of the activities advisors, coaches and teachers for being so cooperative when we needed to get last minute pictures or quotes. Thanks Mr. Wing and Dr. Lew for saving us from all those computer disasters! Thank you to Tony Noto for helping us out with pretty much everything! We never could have finished without you. We would also like to thank our local businesses for purchasing ads to help support this year's yearbook.

Finally, thank you to all of you students here at PHN, for offering excitement and interest in our work, and for helping to create a wonderful school that was a pleasure to cover!

Coleophon

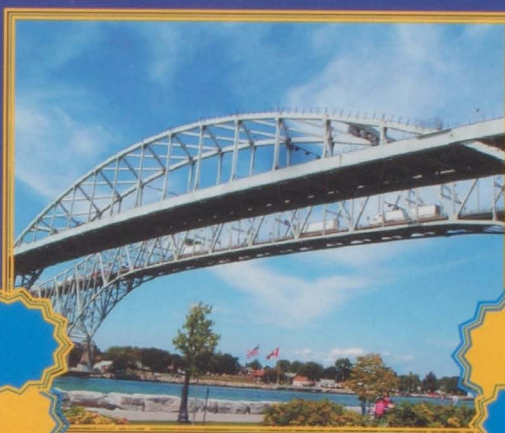

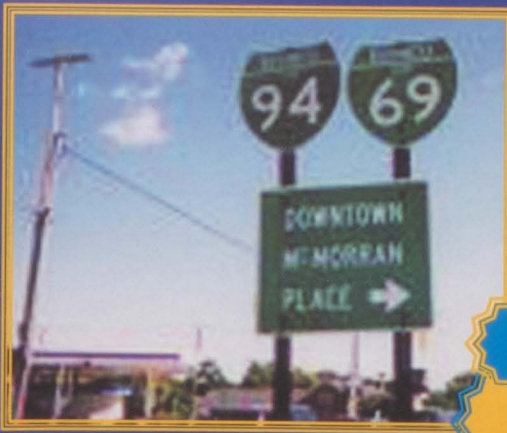

This year's theme "Our Game of Life" represents our journey through Port Huron Northern and through our future lives. It was chosen not only from the creative standpoint of incorporating games, but to relate the idea of endings and new beginnings.

This was the first yearbook to have a white cover in almost 20 years. Though the book is in color, the backgrounds on the spreads are white as well. This was done to make the book more "clean" and unified as a single piece.

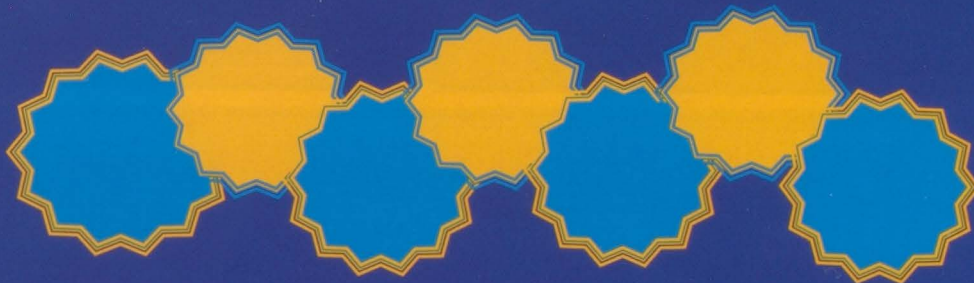

The book's editorial staff included our Editors-in-Chief Sara Haynes and Alli Moore as well as sectional editors Kasie Bowers, Avrie Tapley, Alexis Baker, Bailey Lynch, Kendall Sattelberg, Jenna Sparling, Ken Kobberstad, Ashley Rich, Kayla Koppel, Christy Cuthbertson, Alaura Martindale, Lauren Roussel, Brandon Burtwell and Sara Hutchinson headed by our advisor Mr. Dwyer.

This was the 44th volume in the Spirit Collection, created by Port Huron Northern Yearbook and Herff Jones Company. There were 268 pages, printed in color, created by Adobe InDesign CS2. The fonts used in this book were AHJ Avalon and AHJ Nashville.

This book was funded by advertisements and book sales with resources made available through Port Huron Area School District.

MIKE SPENCER

Your time is limited, so don't waste it living someone else's life. Don't let the noise of others opinions drown out your own inner voice. Most importantly, have the courage to follow your heart and intuition. They somehow know what it is you truly want to become.

Your family is very proud of you, Mike Spencer!

To Our Allie,

As you stand on the precipice of a life altering adventure, your father & I will take these few precious moments to reflect on the wonderful person you have become. We waited a long time for you to arrive and you didn't disappoint us- you arrived a month early! From the onset you were full of curiosity, wonder and delight. You've maintained these qualities over the years and improved on them. The mistakes you've made have been few and the lessons learned. You have shown wisdom beyond your young years and the strength of conviction to always do the "right thing." You are articulate, intelligent, witty, opinionated, emotional, and compassionate. You have the gift to laugh at yourself and let others laugh with you. Words can't describe how proud we are of you. Character is not based on a person's accomplishments, but on the choices that person makes. You have made some very good ones! It is now your turn to soar with the eagles and attain those goals you've set for yourself. We love you Oll.

Exodus 15:2

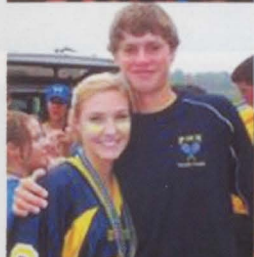

"My Lord is my strength and my song;
He has become my salvation".

To our sweet, sweet girl!
Christ alone enlightens your life.
We have enjoyed watching you in High School.
Walking with the Holy Spirit leading the way in four very full years; (semester of classes, volleyball, Choir, soccer, AAU, NHS, LRT dances, Husky link, football games, snow games and K.E.Y. Club). You have been through many triumphs and tribulations that have helped you become a lovely woman of Christ.
We are so proud of you. Congratulations!
We will miss you, but we love you, trust you, and pray you continue to Glorify God with your choices through college and all the days of your life.

Deuteronomy 6:5-6

"Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your strength.

These commandments that I give you today are to be upon your hearts."

Our Dearest Tyler,

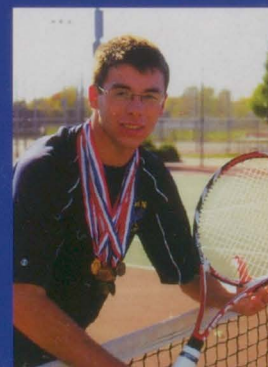

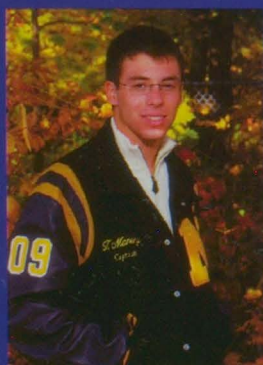

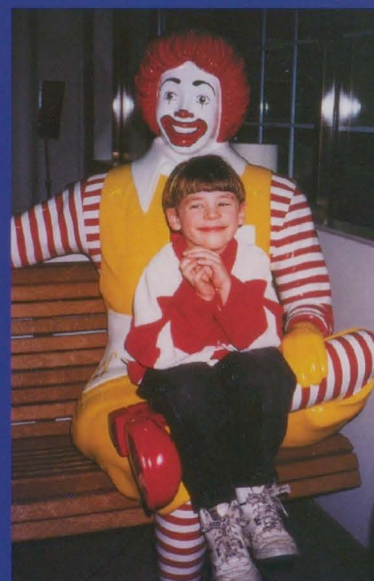

We want to thank you for being such a wonderful son and truly a joy to raise. You are all grown up and have displayed a life of integrity, compassion, and support to all who have known you. Your ability to make others laugh, never judge anyone and your humbleness are truly your signature.

You have given us the two happiest days of our lives, the day you were born and the day you won the State Championships in boy's varsity tennis. It took 42 years but was so worth the wait. You hold the school records at PHN for most career wins (136) and the most points at the State Championships (16).

CONGRATULATIONS!!!

We look forward to watching you play college tennis, and we know you will be a great success as a teaching tennis professional. Thank you for using you God given talent in such a humble way.

Always all our love, Mom and Dad
